TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1.

A MULE'S FATAL KICK .- An accident of unusual sadness occurred last evening at the corner of Pierce Piace and Fourteenth street, Washington. At about 7 o'clock Miss Lilian F. They were conveyed to a drug store near by, where a physician attended them. Mrs. Hershey was found to have received a severe though not dangerous scalp wound, while the injuries of Miss Hershey were more serious. She had been struck over the right temple by the mule's shoe, puncturing the bone. The doctor found symptoms of compression of the brain, and at the solicitation of friends of the injured ones removed them to their home. The young lady had scarcely been borne to her room on the stretcher when a slight convulsion was noticed and she dicd.
